Who We Are:-

The Economic Justice Forum (EJF) is a registered non-governmental organization in Kenya advancing Economic Justice for All by transforming economic systems for people to achieve Economic Justice.

EJF is an independent institution that brings together governments, communities, businesses, academia and development partners to strengthen institutions, improve economic systems and expand opportunities for equitable and sustainable prosperity.

Our work is founded on the belief that people are the purpose of every economy. We therefore promote economic systems that uphold human dignity, protect economic rights, expand opportunity and generate shared prosperity.

Vision

Economic Justice for All.

Mission

Transforming Economic Systems for People to Achieve Economic Justice.

Our Philosophy

The Economic Justice Forum recognizes human dignity as the foundation of Economic Justice and economic rights as fundamental human rights.

Guided by the enduring principles of Equity • Justice • Prosperity, we work to strengthen institutions and transform economic systems so that people can participate meaningfully in economic life, realise their potential and benefit fairly from economic progress.

Why We Exist

Across the world, many economies generate wealth without creating equitable opportunity. Communities living alongside valuable natural wealth often remain excluded from its benefits, while weak institutions and ineffective economic systems limit people's ability to realise their economic potential.

The Economic Justice Forum exists to address these challenges by advancing ideas, strengthening institutions and building partnerships that transform economic systems into engines of opportunity, inclusion and shared prosperity.

ECONOMIC JUSTICE FORUM

Institutional Profile

What We Do

The Economic Justice Forum works with governments, communities, civil society, academia, the private sector and development partners to transform economic systems that expand opportunity, strengthen institutions and deliver equitable and sustainable prosperity.

We develop practical solutions that connect policy, innovation and partnerships with the everyday realities of people and communities.

Our Approach

EJF applies an Economic Systems Approach™ that addresses the structural causes of inequality rather than its symptoms. We examine how institutions, public policies, markets, finance, natural wealth and governance interact to shape economic opportunities and outcomes.

Our work is informed by the Natural Wealth Lens™, which recognises natural wealth as a foundation for inclusive economic development and advocates for its responsible and equitable use to create lasting public value.

Our Priority Areas

✓ Natural Wealth & Climate Justice

Advancing equitable governance of natural wealth, climate resilience, biodiversity conservation, blue economy and sustainable development to ensure communities benefit fairly from the resources that sustain their lives.

✓ Public Finance & Economic Governance

Promoting transparent, accountable and participatory public finance systems that strengthen service delivery, improve resource allocation and enhance economic accountability.

✓ Democracy, Governance & Institutional Development

Supporting stronger public institutions, citizen participation, policy reform and accountable governance to build resilient and responsive economic systems.

✓ Research, Innovation & Digital Transformation

Generating evidence, advancing innovative solutions and leveraging digital technologies to improve decision-making, expand opportunity and accelerate inclusive development.

✓ Economic Empowerment

Creating pathways for youth, women and communities to participate meaningfully in economic development through entrepreneurship, skills development, enterprise support and access to emerging opportunities.

How We Create Impact

Our work combines research, policy engagement, capacity strengthening, innovation, strategic partnerships and community action to transform ideas into measurable outcomes.

Rather than implementing isolated projects, we develop scalable models that strengthen institutions, empower communities and contribute to long-term systemic change.

This page explains what EJJF does and how it works in a concise, strategic way, setting up the final page, which will answer why organizations should partner with EJJF and how to engage with us.

Partner With Us

The Economic Justice Forum believes that transforming economic systems requires strong institutions and purposeful partnerships. The challenges of Economic Justice cannot be addressed by one organisation alone—they require collaboration across governments, businesses, academia, civil society and communities.

We work with partners who share our commitment to strengthening institutions, advancing responsible Natural Wealth governance, expanding economic opportunity and creating equitable prosperity.

Our Partnership Approach

Every partnership is built on shared purpose, mutual trust and measurable impact. We work alongside our partners to:

- Co-create innovative programmes and policy solutions.
- Generate research and evidence that informs decision-making.
- Strengthen institutional and community capacity.
- Promote innovation and technology for inclusive economic transformation.
- Mobilize knowledge, expertise and resources.
- Scale successful ideas into lasting impact.

Strategic Partners

The Economic Justice Forum works with a growing network of strategic partners committed to advancing Economic Justice, strengthening economic systems, promoting responsible Natural Wealth governance, and expanding equitable prosperity.

Our strategic partners include:

- Skill Addis — Addis Ababa, Ethiopia
- Initiative for Responsible Mining Assurance (IRMA) — Washington, D.C., United States
- Our Ocean Centres Kenya — Nairobi, Kenya
- Open Forest Protocol (OFP) — Lausanne, Switzerland
- NatureGrid — Lausanne, Switzerland
- Women in Mining Africa (WiM-Africa) — Freetown, Sierra Leone

As EJF continues to grow, we welcome strategic partnerships with governments, embassies and diplomatic missions, bilateral and multilateral development partners, philanthropic foundations, universities, colleges, research institutions, private sector companies, technology firms, investors, civil society organisations, human rights movements and other institutions committed to advancing Economic Justice.

Let's Build Economic Justice Together

Economic Justice is more than an aspiration—it is the foundation of peaceful societies, resilient economies and shared prosperity.

Whether you are shaping public policy, investing in innovation, advancing research, empowering communities or strengthening institutions, your partnership can help transform economic systems that work for people.

Together, we can build a future where every person has the opportunity to participate in, contribute to and benefit from economic progress.
